

COCCYX GEL SUPPORT (CORRUGATED TYPE)

ABOUT THE PRODUCT

A corrugated coccyx gel support is an advanced cushion designed to alleviate pressure on the tailbone (coccyx) and enhance sitting comfort. It features the essential U-shaped cut-out at the rear to suspend the coccyx, preventing painful contact with the seat. The pad is constructed with a corrugated surface—a pattern of ridges and grooves—which is typically made of gel or foam. This textured surface is highly effective for promoting air circulation, reducing heat build-up, and further enhancing pressure distribution across the sitting area. It is an excellent choice for managing coccyx pain, hemorrhoids, and discomfort from prolonged sitting.
